What Does It Mean to Be a "Fiduciary"?

A family member or friend may ask you to act as power of attorney to make medical or financial decisions on their behalf. This person may be planning for a time when they can't take care of their affairs due to an accident or illness.

Living Trusts: How They Can Benefit Seniors

Unfortunately, seniors are prime targets for financial abuse and scams. Sadly, the elderly are often taken advantage of by strangers — and sometimes even their own family members. That's why it's crucial that planning is in place to help seniors protect themselves and their assets.

Client Testimonial

I have been enrolled in the Peace of Mind program for several years – a wise decision. Changes to estate and inheritance law frequently occur and I know that I will always be updated by the Russo attorneys. Personal family experience has made me very aware of what these changes can mean if they are not incorporated into my legal affairs. The yearly Peace of Mind conference is an excellent investment and relieves me of many worries.
